WORK: How is a volcano made? The Vulkangarten Steffeln, in a German/Belgian nature park, demonstrates various geological phenomena and answers many questions about volcanoes. Here, your team will undertake various maintenance tasks, such as cutting plants away from paths, clean the top of the volcano, and remove plants. Another task will be cleaning the river bank and cleaning a bird watching house, while building a path through the forest. A final project will be cleaning wooden huts on the hunting grounds, where you will first steam blast them, then give them a fresh coat of paint.

ACCOMODATION: Your group will be staying in wooden huts.

Catering: Meals will be prepared as a group.
